FIELD REPORT

February Flying

Hey! It's February, but we haven't seen snow in a while. It seems like the snow-flying season did not last long after all. I guess we should call this the swap-season instead. Hopefully everyone has gotten a chance to get out to a nearby swap meet this year to either buy or sell. If not, don't worry. There are still some swap meets coming up that are around the area.

Below are some photos taken by Phil Schumacher of the field last week-end. It looks like several members were able to take advantage of this mild February weather.
